Karen: Do you already have a wireless router with your current internet connection? The Time-Warner cable guy wanted to know -- I am scheduling him for you next week.

me: yes

Karen: OK good, he is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday afternoon.

Karen: Also, I have hired that Dallas literary agent to review these two agreements for you -- am paying him a small fee but think it will be worth it to get his feedback on your royalty split agreement, don't you think?

me: I'm really not planning to contest it

Karen: Not 'contesting' anything. Just want him to explain to us the reality of the 70/30 parts in case their some some big upside down the road. Want to understand what it is you are signing -- especially after the Nederpelt deal :)

Karen: anyway, he is reviewing tonight!
